Welcome to the Brandeis Institutional Repository, established in 2008. The Brandeis Institutional Repository is a resource for the Brandeis community to showcase, organize, share, and preserve research and scholarship in an Open Access repository.

Why deposit in an institutional repository?
- Research and creative works are more widely available, increasing scholarly communication
- Contributors are assured of a digital repository with permanent URLs
- Long-term preservation of scholarly output in a wide range of formats is assured
- Brandeis research and education is showcased in one location.

Organizations of the Brandeis Institutional Repository:
The content is organized in 'communities' that reflect the academic and administrative structure of Brandeis University. For example, the community for the School of Arts and Sciences has 'sub-communities' for each department, each of which contains, for example, policy advisors, research groups, and faculty members who share a particular interest. The academic content and research of the institution is further organized by research group, individual faculty members, content type or other logical groupings that meet the community's need.

Distribution License

There is one last step: In order for DSpace to reproduce, translate and distribute your submission worldwide, you must agree to the following terms.

Grant the standard distribution license by selecting "I Grant the License"; and then click "Complete Submission".

Non-exclusive Distribution License for Submissions to the Brandeis Institutional Repository

By signing and submitting this license, you (the author(s) or copyright owner) grants to Brandeis University (Brandeis) the non-exclusive right to reproduce, translate (as defined below), and/or distribute your submission (including the abstract) worldwide in print and electronic format and in any medium, including but not limited to audio or video.

You agree that Brandeis may, without changing the content, translate the submission to any medium or format for the purpose of preservation.

You also agree that Brandeis may keep more than one copy of this submission for purposes of security, back-up and preservation.

You represent that the submission is your original work, and that you have the right to grant the rights contained in this license. You also represent that your submission does not, to the best of your knowledge, infringe upon anyone's copyright.

If the submission contains material for which you do not hold copyright, you represent that you have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner to grant Brandeis the rights required by this license, and that such third-party owned material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text or content of the submission.

If the submission is based upon work that has been sponsored or supported by an agency or organization other than Brandeis, you represent that you have fulfilled any right of review or other obligations required by such contract or agreement.

Brandeis will clearly identify your name(s) as the author(s) or owner(s) of the submission, and will not make any alteration, other than as allowed by this license, to your submission.

If you have questions regarding this license, you can contact the system administrators.
